Activity emails are summaries of activity inside a space the user is a member of and is subscribed to. Users are set to receive the activity by default for each space. Communifire sends two activity emails, a Daily Digest Email that summarizes the past 24 hours of activity, and a Weekly Digest Email that summarizes the past 7 days of activity.

Activity emails are most useful for people who are not able to log into their computer regularly for updates, either traveling employees or members of a public intranet. It is a way to make sure not to lose out on any activity in topics of interest without having to continuously log back into the intranet for updates.
