Ideas are suggestions that users can post and vote on. Ideas have a title, description, category, and stage.

"Top level community" refers to the entirety of your intranet, in contrast to spaces, which are sub-communities of the top level community. If a space is private, users who are not members of the space cannot view its content, whereas everyone in your intranet can view top level content. Top level ideas can be accessed through the Browse menu.

How to Set Contact Request Email Addresses

Communifire comes with a Contact Us page which your intranet members can use to contact site administrators. You can set specific email addresses to receive contact requests, by request type.

How to Set Up Private Case Submission

You can set case permissions so space members can only see the cases they submitted, and space administrators and moderators can see all cases. Private case submission protects user data and makes conversations available to relevant parties only.
